

ISPRS Geospatial Week 2017

ISPRS Geospatial Week 2017 will be held in Wuhan China, which is a beautiful city in central China. It is also a national historical and cultural city. Chinese historical and cultural building "Yellow Crane Tower" is located there. Wuhan has a network of rivers and harbors, which forms the unique riverside and lakeside ecological environment of water areas.

Experts, scholars and users from around the world will gather in Wuhan, exchange the latest research results, share successful experiences, study the academic and technical development and show the advanced technology and surveying and mapping achievements. Manufacturers and companies around the world will participate in the congress. It is a good opportunity to contact directly the world-class and the latest technology systems and equipments for photogrammetry, remote sensing, geographic information systems and other related areas.

Let's meet at the birthplace of Chinese surveying and mapping geographic information and view the beautiful scenery in this river city. Look forward to seeing you in Wuhan China!

April 14, 2017: Full paper for Annals due

Dear colleagues and friends:

I would like to invite you to attend the 2017 ISPRS Geospatial Week that will take place in Wuhan, the most populous city in Central China, from 18th to 22nd September 2017.

Wuhan lies in the eastern Jiangnan Plain at the intersection of the middle reaches of the Yangtze and Han rivers. Arising out of the conglomeration of three cities, Wuchang, Hankou, and Hanyang, Wuhan is known as "Jiu sheng Tong qu (the nine provinces' leading thoroughfare)", and is a major transportation hub, with dozens of railways, roads and expressways passing through the city and connecting to major cities in Mainland China.

Our aim is to propose all the professionals involved in geospatial sensing academia and industry to share research ideas, present latest research achievements, foster cooperation, and encourage international collaboration.

We are looking forward to seeing you soon in Wuhan!

Best regards,

Deren Li
