

ISPRS GSW 2019 - Efstratios Karantanellis

Geospatial week 2019 in Enschede, was such a delightful experience. Firstly, Enschede and ITC have been the places where I grew up as research human being due to my MSc studies almost 6 years ago in the department of Applied Earth Sciences. The chance to meet and interact with people who have been professors and helped me to reach my career till now and they have been continuous motivation for me is more than an unexpected experience.

During the GSW week and inside the conference halls, I met some amazing people who are truly passionate on their field while the close interaction with them transmitted knowledge power to me in order to think deeper and consistent for my academic research and my PhD topic. ISPRS conferences are a great way to meet new people in your field, forge new personal and professional relationships with multicultural people, grow your professional skills but also extend your academic network. If I look back, to meet people that truly motivate you is always a positive point in the interactions during conferences. During the GSW conference, I acquired new information and new research perspectives concerning my field of research.

I would like to deeply thank all the people in ISPRS and Enschede organization committee. ISPRS support is not something I could take lightly and is very much appreciated for my further career. Without your involvement and generosity, I would not be able to aim high and reach my research potential. Thank you again for your generous funding support. ISPRS GSW and in specific UAV-g have been an unlimited positive experience to enrich my knowledge in the Geoinformation field and have fruitful discussions with experts and end-users that I will import in my research focus.

“To meet people that motivate you is always a positive point in the interactions during conferences”

